The Space enabling people to See themselves

Looking up the Sky from the Bottom of the Well

The image is a vertical composition of two photographs of wells, viewed from below looking up. The top photograph shows a well with a circular opening at the top, through which a bright, hazy light (the sky) is visible. The walls of the well are made of dark, textured material, possibly stone or brick, with some light reflecting off the surface. The bottom photograph shows a similar well, but the opening at the top is irregular and framed by dark, silhouetted branches or structures. Through this opening, a clear blue sky and some green foliage are visible. The text "Batman in the well" is written in a bold, red, sans-serif font, centered horizontally between the two images.
